About Us

Duntower Corporation is a company with more than 30 years of experience in the production and international commercialization of all types of food. We integrate a chain of value not only by assuming all risks during transaction but also offering logistic services, administrative & financial support, quality control, and up-to-date information of markets.

Through exclusive contracts and alliances with our suppliers, we can offer products from diverse origins which meet demands of every market in quality and price.

Our track-record shows a commercial commitment and a mutual respect between us and our clients and suppliers. Our commitment to quality and attention to the market allow us to forge long-lasting and meaningful business relationships.

Duntower Corporation has built its own highly qualified, hands-on team that is present during the entire process of production in order to guarantee product quality every step of the way.
