Committed to Providing Quality Products and Services

Duntower Poultry

We produce, export and commercialize poultry products originated from Argentina, Uruguay, Paraguay and Brazil to the world.

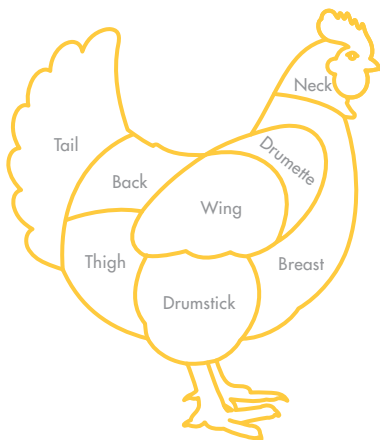

Production process has two critical stages:

The first one, related to all the activities involved in the treatment of living birds and the practices carried out on farms, mills, and hatcheries. The key to a high-quality product is our technical expertise in the handling of genetics. Through state-of-the-art techniques and the latest technology, DUNTOWER POULTRY carries out the most careful selection and crossbreeding processes.

Second stage, involves not only treatment of the broilers in the processing plants but also packaging and storage processes, which are carried out according to the requirements of our customers.

It is by our expertise in quality control and production technology that we have achieved the highest standard levels and supply volumes, complying with strictest requirements of international markets.
